once upon a time, there was a young donna named Sally Potter (i) (alias Trolly Paste). sometimes she sat around thinking important thoughts. one day she met another donna named Lindsay Cooper (alias Parpini) (ii) her thoughts turned to other nice things (iii). The two donnas did songs together and also did pan-cakes and also did ride things. (A) After a while they also became not only each others mothers but also each others daughters. (B) When this combined with PMT there were occasional fistical occurences. From that moment on song and pancakes and ride nevertheless, they lived very happily ever after (with birthdays and everything)

YUK

